George Skikos

Product Manager

J.D. Power

---

With over 20 years' experience within the Autodata Solutions Division of J.D. Power, George has evolved through many roles including sales, customer support, client management, business analysis and is currently in product management. Perpetually the voice of the customer, he has attained automotive industry knowledge of configuration, inventory, comparison, incentives, dealership commercial sales and fleet ordering by building excellent relationships and through the pursuit of truth-finding.

Working with agile product teams, he is able to lead with confidence to ensure the products we build are excellent, but also that the people he works with are valued and respected.

George holds a bachelor's degree in biology from Western University in southern Ontario, Canada.
