

Jamie Kozlik

Senior Director, Business Development

J.D. Power

Jamie Kozlik is a Senior Director of Business Development for J.D. Power, specializing in the ChromeData brand of offerings.

Jamie has been with ChromeData for over 24 years in various sales and business development roles. She serves the non-OEM partner/reseller channel for some of the top companies in automotive, finance and customer-facing web sites. She is focused on client retention and expanding technology into the growing client base. Jamie has a passion for identifying, pursuing and closing new business using solution-selling techniques, with an emphasis on long-term relationship development.

Jamie holds a BS In Business/Marketing from Oregon State University.